This year's International Contemporary Furniture Fair - ICF 2013 - was a really great show. Furniture, lighting, decorative objects and finishes from big-name international companies as well as many local designers were on display. New York City was well-represented with many of our peers from Brooklyn and Long Island City. (Of course we are one of the last to still manufacture from Manhattan!)

Jonathan Adler's stylish booth that looked and felt like a chic vintage store was my favorite. His representatives working the show were the nicest and friendliest of all!
